NEWS FROM PORT ARTHUR.

The 'Novi Kral' Still Publishing.

The following translation from the Novi Kral of the 30th March is taken from the Shanghai Mercury.After the usual church service, a parade consisting of parts of several regiments was held on the grounds adjoining the church in commemoration of the sixth year of the occupation of Port Arthur.
Colonel Gaudin commanded the parade, while the band of the 15th East Siberian Sharpshooters' Regiment contributed the music.Amongst those present were the chief of the P. A. Kinchow Army Division, as also was Lieut.-General Stessel.After receiving the report from the 'parade commander, and the parade present were put through a few movements, Lieut.
General Stessel approached the forces and said:—To-day exactly six years ago, the Russian flag was hoisted by Prince Vladimirich on the Golden Hill, who at the present moment is again amongst us serving on the fleet of the Pacific Ocean. Port Arthur was occupied by the 9th East Siberian Sharpshooters' regiment without a single shot and now after six years of hardship in constructing the forts, town, etc., we find ourselves obliged to defend the place against a neighbouring country who wish to take it out of our hands. Not imagining for a single moment that they will ever accomplish this, I am convinced that the flag is there to stay even in the event of another war. We now congratulate our Emperor (this was immediately followed by 'hurrahs' which prolonged till the order was given to stop) 'Men, I have already said that the flag was hoisted by Prince Vladimirich who is at the present moment again with us in the fleet fighting in the battle. We wish his Royal Highness long life and prosperity.
(Cries again of prolonged 'hurrah').After this Lieut.-General Stessel read to the parade a telegram received from His Highness Viceroy Alexieff in which the Viceroy congratulated Lieut.-General Stessel and his forces for the sixth year of occupation of Port Arthur (cries of 'hurrah').After this, Lieut.-General Stessel said, 'On the theatre of War has arrived the commander of the Manchurian forces, General Adjutant Kurapatkin, under whom I don't imagine for a single moment, we will not be able to stand against our foe should they ever come to us. For congratulating General Adjutant Kurapatkin (cries of 'hurrah').Then cheers were given for Vice Admiral Makarov, the fleet and General Linovitch.After the usual conclusion ceremonies, the forces were marched back to their respective posts.

The Capture of the 'Hanyen

Maru.'

On the 26th inst. part of our fleet cleared from the inner harbour for a cruise round the adjacent islands.At 10.15 p.m. torpedo-boat Vintimablin in accordance with instructions signalled from the Novik proceeded to inspect several junks that were close by. On her journey she noticed off the small island of Gokigano a small steamer towing a barge.
She immediately gave chase and when within cables fired a blank shot across her bows. On the steamer was immediately hoisted the Japanese flag but not the one that meant surrender. She kept on full steam ahead until a second blank shot was fired—when she stopped. Immediately she stopped many persons from the steamer were making their way to the towed barge with the idea evidently of breaking loose from the steamer and making good their escape.Seeing this—the Vintimablin lowered a boat at once, under Midshipman Fini, was despatched to inspect the junk, while the torpedo-boat herself went towards the Hanyen Maru and brought her in tow to the cruiser Novik.The Commander of the Novik with several officers accordingly proceeded to inspect their prize. At the same moment the boat lowered from the Vintimablin returned with 4 Japanese prisoners, a quantity of telegrams, etc. Upon searching the Hanyen Maru several Japanese and Chinese were found, besides sundry papers, charts, signal books, wireless telegraph instrument, etc. and two torpedoes (self-explosive).
After conveying all the people to the Novik it was found that one of the Chinese was in reality a Japanese in Chinese costume with a false queue. Upon the conclusion of the inspection the commander of the Novik left several of his own crew on board, and took the vessel in tow with the prize. After proceeding several miles the towing lines parted. The Commander of the Novik then decided that in view of the slow speed of the steamer it would not be advisable for her to proceed herself in case the enemy was met. Towing being impossible, orders were given, after taking of the crew and men, to sink the ship.
This was accordingly done. The whole fleet then formed up in order and returned to Port Arthur reaching there at 2 p.m. It may also be interesting to record that these are our first Japanese prisoners in Port Arthur, and comprise 9 Japanese and 11 Chinese.

How to Stop a Cough.

A simple but effective remedy is the following:— Breathing through the nostrils, inhale a full breath as slowly as is possible without causing fatigue. Expel the breath in the same manner and repeat the operation ten times. This will stop the coughing for about a quarter of an hour. Take a dose of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy during this time and the medicine will have the opportunity to act and will speedily effect a complete cure. (It always cures and cures quickly. For sale by all chemists and medicine vendors.) WATKINS & LANE, General Agents.

SUICIDE AT SHANGHAI.

Sad Death of Mr. M. Sachs.

Shanghai was shocked on Saturday morning (says the N. C. Daily News) by the report of the death of Mr. M. Sachs under the circumstances mentioned hereunder. Mr. Sachs, who was a very well-educated and well-read man, a great lover of music, and a welcome lecturer at the Union Church Hall, came here from Yokohama nearly three years ago and joined the firm of K. B. Bavier and Company, of which he ceased to be a member some four months ago. His wife died here some two years ago, and he has left three small children, two boys and a girl, who are at Copenhagen. It may be mentioned that on Mr. Bavier's strong recommendation, he obtained the post of Secretary of the Tientsin Club which he was about to take up, and that on his representing to Mr. de Bavier, to whom he was already indebted in a considerable sum, that he was in want of a few hundred dollars to regulate his accounts before leaving Shanghai, Mr. de Bavier had kindly promised to advance him the amount he required. Mr. Sachs made many friends during his residence here, as was shown by the attendance at his funeral yesterday afternoon, and the numerous and handsome wreaths that were sent or taken to his grave by his Danish fellow-countrymen and others.

The following summary of the inquiry touching the death of Martin P. Sachs, was kindly furnished by Mr. J. Rasmussen, the Danish Consul.

The inquiry was held at the Consulate on Saturday. According to the evidence of the Police, the body of Martin P. Sachs, Danish subject, was found at 8.20 a.m., that day, on the sloping forebank in front of the back work near the main entrance to the Public Garden. A broken tumbler, smelling strongly of carbolic acid was found at his side. There was some blood on the ground, and about his head. The body was taken to the Police Station. A post-mortem examination was made by Dr. Mueland, who testified that from the appearance of the face, mouth, gullet, stomach, duodenum, larynx and trachea, he was of opinion that death was the result of carbolic acid poisoning. Mr. A. S. S. and Mr. Funder, two Danish gentlemen living in the same house as the deceased, gave evidence that the deceased during the last fortnight at times had appeared in a nervous and excited state, and that he one morning had complained of having passed a very bad night with fever and hallucinations, adding that he had felt like going out of his mind. Deceased had, as usual, left the house early on Friday morning and not come back during the day for his work, which was, however, no unusual thing. His body had no appearance of having been occupied during Friday night.

In this evidence the Danish Consul found no reason to make further inquiries, there being no reason to suspect that any crime had been committed. The body was handed over to friends of the deceased, by whom it was interred yesterday at 3.30 p.m. at the Jewish Cemetery on the Bubbling Well Road.

The body of the unfortunate M. Sachs was interred on Sunday afternoon, at the Jewish cemetery, Bubbling Well Road, at the presence of about fifty sympathisers, including a number of the dead man's business associates, bearing floral tributes. The service was in Yiddish and there were the customary prayers for orphans as the filling of the grave approached completion.

HONGKONG, SATURDAY, APRIL 23, 1904.

Is the second week of March, the price of bread in London and other parts of England advanced by a halfpenny on the four pound loaf. The cause of this was precisely the same as that of the recent depression in the Lancashire cotton industry, the machinations of American syndicates in 'cornering' the corn supply that should reach England from the west. They were assisted by the effect of the war in enhancing the price of Russian wheat. Both disasters supply an object lesson for the Free Traders. If a moderate preferential duty, in itself inadequate to advance the price of a single farthing, widens the wheat-growing area of Canada, so as to make England independent of Chicago grain, there would be no possibility of these violent fluctuations. So long as we have a right rule of free imports, we are at the mercy of any Trust that is sufficiently powerful and astutely managed. Hongkong is very differently situated and the utmost freedom of trade is essential to its existence as an entrepot, but England is in the position of a vast food market and must buy, without as yet any power of controlling the source from which it buys, or of encouraging those tradesmen who would offer fairer terms. In his last speech in the House of Commons (July 1864), Richard Cobden said: 'The hon. member for Stirling (Mr Caird) stated the other day, and we could have no higher authority, that half the people of this country are fed with food and grain brought from abroad. We are in the position of a garrison depending for subsistence upon our communications being kept open. The proportion today is nearer five-sixths than a half, and the importance of regaining some control of the food supply is proportionately greater. The only question to discuss is whether preferential tariffs would encourage a controllable supply. Figures are dull reading, but they are useful as pins to affix facts, and these are the statistics of the effect on our export trade to Canada since the Dominion allowed our merchants a rebate. In 1887, our exports amounted to £5,100,000. On August 1, 1888, a 25 per cent rebate came into force, and during the next year Canada took from us goods to the value of £6,900,000. On July 1, 1900, the rebate was raised to 33 per cent, and in that year the exports rose to £7,600,000. Last year, the amount was £11,100,000. This is the benefit to us of the action of Canada, and it is difficult to doubt that, if we were to give a similar favour in return, the effect on Canadian exports would be much greater, as we would be opening to them a bigger market than any they can offer to us. Gratitude demands that we should reciprocate their courtesy, and self-interest points to what has recently happened in the case of bread and of cotton, to show the danger of clinging to antiquated theories that were only true in the days before the developments of steam, telegraphs and commercial organisation made it possible for gigantic Trusts to be formed against us.

The Plague in India.

A Simla telegram dated the 8th inst. says:—The plague mortality continues to rise in Upper India, the Punjab last week returning 19,000 deaths and the United Provinces 8,000. Elsewhere there is little change in connection with the disease, but the serious outbreak had raised the weekly total of deaths from plague throughout India from 43,000 to 46,000.

Death of Mr Sam Reid.

We regret to see by the Penang Gazette (says the Singapore Free Press of the 14th inst.) that Mr Sam Reid, late Municipal Engineer, Penang, died on Saturday last, April 9, and was buried on Sunday. Mr Reid came to Singapore as Assistant Municipal Engineer in 1890, and did excellent work. In 1901, he was appointed to Penang, but has not enjoyed good health for some years, and in January broke down completely. He was much esteemed here and in Penang, and his death at the early age of 36 is greatly regretted.

Grossly Exaggerated!

Mr O. B. Burgin, the popular novelist, is under the necessity of explaining, in the words of Mark Twain, that the report of his death in 'Havell's Annual' has been 'grossly exaggerated.' He has, he says, put up 'The Shutters of Silence' and is busy with 'In the Silent Land,' but he is still very much alive. It is interesting to him to hear that his 'premature death' causes the compilers 'to deplore the loss of a writer of great promise,' but he is inconvenienced by letters of condolence, and one person has prematurely sent him his 'little account' in consequence of the report.

Stout Memorial Hospital, Wuchow.

On the afternoon of the 20th inst., in response to invitations sent out by Dr McElroy, there was a full attendance of both Chinese and Foreigners at the opening exercises of the American Southern Baptist Stout Memorial Hospital. The Consul, Commissioner, Tsoai, Prefect, Magistrate, and a number of foreign ladies and gentlemen, and Chinese Christians, and townsfolk were there. After speeches, sacred music and song, and prayer, the company was photographed; and adjourned to one of the upper wards for afternoon tea, which was served out by Mrs McElroy and the ladies. All wish the new hospital success.

The Penang 'Bookmaker' Case.

Some time ago, the Committee of the Penang Turf Club refused to allow Mr C. Robinson, the well-known bookmaker, on the course at the late meeting and that in the heat of the argument, Mr Robinson insulted the Club Secretary. He was convicted by Mr A. T. Bryant and fined $100. Against the decision he appealed, and the Chief Justice heard and dismissed the appeal on April 11. Counsel for the appellant contended that Mr Bryant as an old member of the Turf Club was barred from trying the case; and that there was not sufficient evidence to convict the accused. The Court was against Mr Farrer Baynes, who represented Mr Robinson, on both points.

Shipping Subsidies.

A return, showing (1) the amount, date, and duration of any subsidies given in the past by His Majesty's Government to shipping companies and the number of ships embraced in these arrangements, with the speed of the ships, and (2) the number of ships and their speed embraced in the present arrangements with the Cunard Company was issued on the 17th ult. Twenty vessels are embraced in the arrangement, the speed of nine of these vessels is below 13 knots, and the return states that the slower ships are included in the agreement chiefly for the purpose of the mortgage on the company's property, which forms the security for the construction loan for two new ships to be built with an estimated speed of 24½ knots. A summary of the total amounts paid for subvention to the various shipping companies gives the subjoined:—Peninsular and Oriental Company, £101,372; Inman Steamship Company, £20,900; Cunard Company, £239,881; Oceanic Steam Navigation Company, £185,070; Orient Steam Navigation Company, £7,003; Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, £7,117; Twicken Steam Navigation Company, £4,855; Canadian Pacific Railway Company, £98,003 total, £712,375.

Prepare for Emergency.

WHAT would you do if taken with a severe attack of Cholera or Diarrhoea and your physician could not be readily summoned? Provide yourself with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy, and you will then be prepared for such an emergency.

During the summer months children are subject to disorder of the bowels, and should receive the most careful attention. As soon as any looseness of the bowels is noticed, Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy should be given. When children are teething they have more or less diarrhoea, which can be controlled by giving Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by all chemists and medicine vendors: Watkins Ltd., General Agents.

An Aid to Temperance.

'The corkscrew,' said the white-haired philosopher 'has been one of the greatest aids to temperance.' 'Nonsense,' answered the hook-nosed disputant. 'Why, the corkscrew is one of the first things a man wants when he thinks of taking a drink.' 'I know; but he has always mislaid or lost it, and frequently he can't find another.'

Admiral Noel is certainly doing his utmost to put his command in a state of preparedness for any eventualities.

There were several narrow escapes, but no one was killed outright, several being severely injured.

The Duke's Snuff-boxes.

The Duke of Cambridge was a famous collector of snuff-boxes. His father was a collector before him, and from the Duchess of Gloucester he inherited many interesting specimens. Chief among his treasures was the plain square gold box, richly chased, presented to his grandfather George III. by his bride, Princess Sophia Charlotte of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, on their wedding day in 1761. The Duke set great store by this family relic—in fact, he is said never to have left town without taking it with him.

In an article by Admiral Sir E. R. Fremantle he says:—'We may be sure that Admiral Makaroff is no advocate of "passive resistance," and that we may expect to hear of more endeavours on his part to escape from the Japanese toils with which he is enveloped.' In an interview, Admiral Fremantle adds:—'Admiral Makaroff had been at Port Arthur when the war broke out, then Russia might have been able to save her face. Unless the Japanese make some very serious mistake—which I do not think they will—then Admiral Makaroff is powerless.'

A Naval Race.

A three-mile boat race between crews of 14 from the Ocean and the Albatross took place on Wednesday last at Mira Bay. The race was over a course in the Tolo Harbour, and a great deal of interest was confined in the race. As the Albatross, flying the colours of dark blue and white, lined up for the start, together with the Ocean, with green up, a mighty cheer welcomed them. Commander Field had charge of the starting arrangements, and he got the two boats away well. The Albatross took the lead from the first stroke and for a space held it. Before fifty yards had been traversed the Ocean drew level, and thenceforth began to draw away. Rowing well the Albatross team tried to get on equal terms with their opponents, who, at the mile led by a couple of lengths. From this the race dwindled down to a procession, although the Albatross fought hard to reduce the Ocean's lead. Finally, the Ocean won by twelve lengths in 23 min. 54 sec.
